4m Pulls out the stops at BAe Barrow

Specialist flooring contractor 4m Flooring uk was called in to deliver a performance floor with style and safety underfoot for BAe in the North West.

4m applied a high performance coating within BAe's Nuclear Build Facility at Barrow. Due to the high technology equipment at the site, all works had to be carried out in a 100 percent dust free environment, including the floor preparation and installation process.

Our client requested we install a grey floor finish across the main floor area, with green walkways applied throughout. Demarcation areas and working zones were highlighted in yellow for additional safety.

John Amis, 4m's project manager for the works said "The new floor looks superb and helps with the flow of the manufacturing site, providing clearly marked walkways and supporting the site's health and safety function in general."
