New 4m Website Takes Flooring To A New Level

Specialist contractor 4m Flooring UK has developed a new website, designed to reflect the company's wide-ranging expertise within the commercial and industrial market sectors.

www.4m-flooring.co.uk demonstrates the range, quality and service offered by the company, which has its headquarters in Newcastle-under-Lyme, Staffordshire.

Features include details of the flooring products and systems suitable for different environments, such as automotive, aviation and retail - illustrated by informative case studies highlighting 4m projects relevant to each key area.

David Roache, managing director of 4m flooring uk, said: "The new website has been developed to illustrate the various flooring solutions we can offer, tailored to the individual needs of a specific area.

"The case studies support this advice and the content overall helps specifiers build up a wide range of information relevant to their particular environment."

4m Flooring UK – part of the Seddon Group - is a premier name in the supply, design and installation of industrial and commercial flooring across the UK and Ireland.

The company's consultative, solutions-led approach has seen it take on a range of prestigious flooring contracts, while its commitment to high quality is reflected by its status as a holder of the Investors in People award, as well as the environmental standard ISO 14001.
