STOP PRESS.....Transformation in 2 days.
Result - Customer satisfaction.

A major UK printing company recently placed their fifth order for floor coating with ACC Flooring, further testament to the professionalism of not only their specification but the installation was well.

The printing company placed their first order for the refurbishment of their Bradford plant some three years ago. Recent reorganisation of the machinery meant further work was required to transform the area - but due to high production output only two days were available in which to complete the job. This included preparation, application of six different colours all to be fully cured ready for storage of finished product.

The total area was 380m<sup>2</sup>, to include the re-routing of the pedestrian and forklift truck routes and install storage demarcation using ACC HB a coloured, high build epoxy resin coating, a product that performs excellently in this environment.

The system has been widely used and trafficked heavily by forklift trucks in other areas of the plant, and four years on still looks fantastic.

ACC Flooring has carried out similar projects for other companies, once they have witnessed the transformation achieved with new flooring at this company.
