

“New Floors on the Menu for Lake District Hotels”

As part of a programme of planned refurbishments and new facilities at the exclusive ‘Inn on the Lake’ Hotel in Ullswater, a complete kitchen renovation was intended for February 2008. This was to include a new durable resin floor finish and drainage system supplied and installed by John L Lord & Son Ltd to provide a safe working environment for the chefs and kitchen staff.

Initially the existing, badly worn terrazzo tiles and tile bed were removed. The floor levels were then brought back up using a John Lord fast-curing Rizistalcrete co-polymer screed. Localised falls were created around the new, strategically placed Aspen range drainage channels and gullies to assist with the future cleaning of the kitchen’.

Once the screed had cured and been prepared, the floor was ready to accept the new resin floor finish. Due to the floor finish requirements, John Lord Uragard HT120W polyurethane screed was chosen as it could provide a hygienic, anti-slip, yet easy to clean surface.

The Skiddaw Hotel in Keswick (also owned by Lake District Hotels) underwent a kitchen refurbishment at the same time, as part of ongoing renovations. Here John Lords removed an existing vinyl floor covering before laying a new seamless Uragard HT resin screed on top.
