NATIONAL FLOORING
Floors For Industry

:: Installation requirements

After a fire broke out and damaged the back of the store, Anglia Regional Co-operative Society seized the opportunity to refresh and refurbish the whole store. A reliable and efficient service was required to work alongside site management and other trades to ensure a fast track programme was maintained.

:: Why National Flooring?

Having a proven track record on other co-operative sites it was immediately decided that the Degafloor Flake System should be installed. The system provides the client with the opportunity to create bespoke aesthetics that can be matched to the surrounding environment. The systems durability and seamless finish provides a hardwearing yet attractive floor, an ideal solution for retail environments.

To provide an efficient and cost effective finish, National Flooring installed the resin system over the existing terrazzo tiles. The area, which was in excess of 1200sqm, took seven days to complete from preparation to installation.

To ensure minimal damage occurred throughout the rest of the refurbishment, National Flooring overlaid the resin finish with 3mm protective boards that were taped down at the edges to provide a temporary shielding solution. Once all work was completed the boards were taken up to reveal a new unmarked floor.

Henry Wadsworth, Kier Group, comments, "National Flooring provided a professional service from pre-order stage through to the production of handover documentation. They were always willing to visit site to check progress and give advise prior to commencement. Their on-site work was of a very high standard and was executed with a helpful attitude within the agreed time frame."
