NIFL in Designer Resin Flooring

A Recent News Article stated that 'Technological advancement and the desire for a contemporary look means resin is the new big thing'. This has never been more true than in a recent installation of flooring to a Clothing Boutique by NIFL.

Nottingham Industrial Flooring was asked to supply a contemporary flooring system to a new Clothing Boutique in Chelsea, London.

A difficult deadline and adverse site conditions for installing a 'Pure White' system meant this project needed a lot of attention.

NIFL applied a 12mm thick Polymer Screed to raise the level of the flooring and then applied AltroFlow Pure White to 250m² of flooring on two levels at the London shop in break neck speed for the shop to be open in time for Easter.

With an almost mirror image appearance and a perfect level match with the other flooring systems installed afterwards, the flooring system which was completely designed and specified by NIFL has been extremely well received by all.

'NIFL not only provided a brilliant floor but it was cost effective as well'
