

RESIN SURFACES LTD CELEBRATES SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Flooring manufacturer Resin Surfaces today posted record annual sales for 2010 despite the continuing troubles in the construction sector. Stockport-based Resin Surfaces, which employs 20 staff, specialises in providing hard-wearing seamless flooring to shops, factories and other businesses.

The family-owned company had sales of £4m in the 12 months to the end of December, up from £3.5m in the previous year.

During 2010, the company has manufactured durable resin floors for the City of Manchester Stadium and the Greenwich Naval Academy. It also undertook work for high street retailer Fat Face and airline catering giant Gate Gourmet, among others.

Director Jeremy Waterhouse said the firm's sales growth was helped by increased exporting and favourable exchange rates. "We intend to continue exporting in coming years and I see no reason why our growth should not continue. We've recently established a presence in Europe and Australia and have also undertaken work in Nigeria." He added: "I believe that there could be good opportunities in Eastern Europe in the coming year."

The company was formed in 1982 and initially concentrated on developing durable flooring for factories – which remains its core business. As Resin Surfaces grew, it moved from its original premises at Styal, in south Manchester, to its current site, which is in Hazel Grove. It supplies resin flooring to businesses and organisations operating across the education, food, manufacturing and retail sectors.
