

SPE TRAINING QUALIFIED ASSESSOR

For a number of years the SPE Group have been working closely with FeRFA, Construction Skills (formally CITB) and the HAE to gain independent recognition of a formal qualification for Surface Preparation through its industry approved training division SPE Training.

The time and dedication invested by the Group is now paying dividends With Training Manager Andy Nightingale being one of the first people in the industry to qualify as an assessor for the NVQ level 2 - Prepare and Profile Substrates. As part of this process two members of staff from SPE Contracting Alex Graves and Tony Bellamy have also been successfully assessed.

SPE Group Managing Director Mr John Hill commented 'This is an important step towards providing an already experienced and skilled work force at SPE with an industry recognised qualification. It is of great importance that the Surface Preparation industry has the opportunity of gaining an independently recognised training qualification. All the hard work has started to pay off and now the industry as a whole can start to benefit'
